

Raising funds for Kids Helpline on Mt Kilimanjaro

Good luck to 14 year old Alyssa Azar and the rest of the talented Adventure Professionals team who are currently on an adventure of a life time, conquering Africa's largest mountain, Mount Kilimanjaro.

The climb is part of a Kids Helpline fundraiser and as the youngest person to ever walk the Kokoda Track, Alyssa is already an experienced trekker who is excited to tackle her greatest challenge so far.

Alyssa and the team left for Mount Kilimanjaro on June 24 and will return on July 7. The trip will be lead by the Adventure Professionals Director and father to Alyssa, Glenn Azar. We know that this young adventurer may be little in stature but big in courage and heart. We wish you all the best and look forward to your successful return.

Congratulations to Jason Swan, another member of the Adventure Professionals team to climb Mt Kilimanjaro, who raised over $50,000 for Kids Helpline.

Kokoda 70th Anniversary

Take part in an Adventure Professionals historical event by attending a very special Anzac trek along the Kokoda Track in 2012 to mark the 70th Anniversary of Kokoda.

If you have ever thought about tackling the Kokoda Track then 2012 should be the year that you embark on an unforgettable journey. Make your way along the famous track that has played a major role in our military history. Step into the footsteps of those who forged the ANZAC spirit of our country. There will be services and celebrations along the way as the Adventure Professional trip leaders recount the war battle by battle.

This is one trip not to be missed.

The world's highest mountain - Everest Base Camp

Sir Edmund Hillary, the first climber known to have reached the summit of Mount Everest most proudly said "People do not decide to become extraordinary. They decide to accomplish extraordinary things."

Today, Adventure Professionals make it possible for physically active, non-climbers to follow in Sir Edmund Hillary's footsteps on the 17,500 foot ascent to Base Camp on Mount Everest, 9 kilometres above sea level. Fulfil a lifelong dream whilst experiencing the historical and significant route to the base of the world's highest mountain.

The Adventure Professionals exploration along the original Everest climbing route is led by an expert team that have you passing along a well trodden trail that will continue to be part of mountaineers and trekkers destinations for years to come.

"This is a wonderful opportunity to experience adventure, test willpower and take a journey of self discovery as each day your ascent sees you face new challenges...A trip to Everest Base Camp will leave you with memories that will last a lifetime," adds Adventure Professionals Director and trek leader Glenn Azar.

You can rest easy on your safe and secure journey with an Australian lead company who take the worry out of your expedition through an all inclusive trip offering experience, knowledge, local guides, guest house accommodation, food, flights and equipment.

This is one of the most inspirational places in the world and with time for acclimatisation en route, the 22 day Adventure Professionals Everest Base Camp expedition is a little glimpse of the heavens from right here on earth.

Aussie 10

Needing to get away, but can't find the time? We have the answer. Kick start your passion for the outdoors and tick off another item on your bucket list with Adventure Professionals' Aussie 10.

Think about it. What could be better than sitting on top of the highest mountains in Australia, crossing the Snowy River, hiking in some of the most spectacular alpine landscape Australia has to offer and completing it in as few as four days?

Whether it's spending one day climbing Kosciusko or 3 days completing the Aussie 10 peaks, you will experience the beautiful scenery that the natural Australian environment has to offer. With all 10 peaks located within the same National Park and all the summits within twelve kilometres of each other, (at least as the crow flies), the route takes you on a forty-five kilometre journey to achieve your goal. This is an opportunity to experience Australia in its most natural and organic form. For more information on our Aussie 10 trips, call us today or visit our website.
